Scripture tells us the greatest story of all time. The narrative themes of creation, fall, redemption, and consumation are woven throughout the Bible, showing us God's promises and purposes throughout all of history. This spring we will be asking: how does my story reflect this scriptural narrative?

Sue Lutz

and her husband Ron have been part of New Life Dresher since its start in 1987. They have been married since 1973. They have three sons, two daughters-in-law, five grandchildren and one lovable but emotionally needy grand-dog. Sue has coordinated New Life's Women's Bible Study since its beginning and has also been involved in other aspects of women's ministry. She edits books and counsels at her home, which she hopes to continue after Ron's retirement. Sue loves travel, music, art, cooking, mysteries, restaurants and good conversations. The gym? Not so much, but she goes. Sue grew up in a Christian home. Being involved in New Life churches for most of her life has allowed her to see the many ways Jesus brings wholeness, hope, healing, and purpose when we entrust our lives to him.

Linda Ruth Paskell

was born in New York City and came to Glenside to study Art at Beaver College in 1977. Along with her Bachelor's degree, and her certification in Art Education, she also received Christ as Lord in her sophomore year. In 1991 she received a Masters of Education and is currently teaching as an adjunct professor at Arcadia University. She has served in Christian education for almost forty years, and has worked at Open Door Christian Academy teaching Art for 38 years. Linda Ruth's passion for integrating faith, art and missions has taken her around the world, serving in various capacities. "The Color of Poverty" is her photo journal documenting her work in missions. She loves discipling younger women, cooking, traveling, creating and spending time with friends. She has two sons, Jacob (21) and Josef (19) who are the greatest joy of her heart.

Rachel Lehman

has been part of NLD with her husband Dion since they moved to the area in 2012. Raised in a Christian home in central PA, she had a faith that was challenged and ultimately deepened during her college years. After graduating with a degree in English, Rachel worked in publishing and later campus ministry while preparing to attend a program in nursing, a field to which she felt God leading her. She now works at Abington Hospital in the ICU. Despite not always understanding her path, Rachel marvels when she gets glimpses of the way God is creating a beautiful quilt out of the seemingly incongruous pieces of her story. A lover of music, books, coffee, dog cuddles, and crafting, Rachel cherishes time with family and friends, and is deeply grateful for the supportive, loving and honest community of believers at NLD.
